Dear Mr Hickling

Government Intention to relax planning controls on building heights

We see from a post – budget statement that the Ministry for Housing Communities and Local Government intends to publish an Order or consultation on this topic, apparently with the intention of freeing-up the procedures for increasing the supply of houses. It seems this may be done by amending the GPDO. This will depend on the availability of parliamentary time.

We at Bexhill Heritage were very troubled to hear of this and are also concerned that it may pass us by unnoticed in the welter of activity in the post Coronavirus period, hopefully sooner than later.

We would ask that you let us know when you gain sight of it and seek our views, so we might present to Government a joint response or at least responses we have conferred upon.

We hope you find this agreeable, please acknowledge and let us know what you think.

Yours sincerely
